

Eusirus cuspidatus, KROYER (Fig. 18), had previously been known only in the Greenland sea, and the genus was represented for the seas of Britain by an imperfect example of another species.

FIG. 19.—Caprella spinosissima, NORMAN. Twice the natural size. (No. 50.)

Fig. 19 is a large and hitherto unknown species of