

Protella , Dana, 1852. Diminutive of Proto , another genus,	{ 256, 265, 328, 375, 535, 537 1244
Protellopsis , Stebbing, 1888,	1240
Proto , Leach, 1814. Πρωτώ, a Nereid, Hesiod, Theogonia, 243,	{ 86, 90, 119, 157, 202, 256, 265 270, 328, 396, 535, 537, 1228
Protogeneia , a misprint for Pontogeneia .
Protomedeia , Krøyer, 1842. "Πρωτομέδεια, filia Nerei et Doridis. Hesiod, Theogonia, vers. 249,"	{ 186, 199, 228, 258, 366, 396 561, 580
Protomedia , misspelling of Protomedeia , Krøyer, and given by mistake for Proto , Leach,	328, 494
Proton , Desmarest's spelling of Proto , Leach,	95, 123, 126, 171
Protonia , Rafinesque, 1815,	88, 126
Psammylla , Rafinesque, 1817. ψάμμος, sand, ψύλλα, a flea. "The name is abbreviated from Psammopsylla, which means sand-flea." Probably a synonym among the Orchestidae,	99
Pseudolycaea , Claus, 1879. ψευδο-, in composition, unreal, simulating, Lycæa , another genus,	493, 590
Pseudophthalmus , altered spelling of Pseudophthalmus , Stimpson, to suit the derivation,	279, 295, 332, 581
Pseudophthalmus , Stimpson, 1854. ψευδής, false, ὀφθαλμός, eye. (= Ampelisca , Krøyer),	279
Pterygocera , a new spelling of Pterygocerus adopted by Latreille in 1829,	{ 138, 143, 192, 228, 257, 261, 474 581
Pterygocerus , Latreille, 1825. πτέρυξ, wing, κέρας, horn, antenna. "Ses quatre antennes sont très-garnies de poils barbus ou formant des pinnules aux premiers articles." (= Haustorius , P. L. S. Müller),	125, 126
Ptilocheirus , Stimpson, 1854. πτίλον, feather, down, χείρ, hand. (? = Leptocheirus , Zaddach),	279, 366, 466, 580
Ptilochirus , misspelling of Ptilocheirus , Stimpson,	561
Pulex , ancient comprehensive genus,	3, 4, 9
Pycnogonum , misspelling of Pycnogonum , Brünnich,	209
Pycnogonum , Brünnich, 1764. πυκνός, frequent, γωνία, angle, "novum genus, quod e crebris articulationibus Pycnogonum dico." A genus not belonging to the Amphipoda except as a synonym of Cyamus , Latreille,	26, fig. 10, 29, 1618
Pyctilus , Dana, 1852. "The name of the genus Pyctilus is from πυκτής, a boxer, and alludes to the very large and well-formed hands of the species." (? = Ericthonius , Milne-Edwards),	{ 255, 258, 267, 268, 375, 559 580
Pygogonum , misspelling of Pycnogonum , Brünnich,	129
Reptoramphus , error or intended correction for Erpetoramphus , de Natale,	1624
Rhabdonectes , ¹ Bovallius, 1887. ῥάβδος, a rod, νήκτης, a swimmer. (= Rhabdosoma , Adams and White),	591, 1606
Rhabdosoma , Adams and White, 1848. ῥάβδος, rod, σῶμα, body,	{ 191, 224, 225, 259, 327, 452, 493 553, 591, 598, 1606
Rhachotropis , S. I. Smith, 1883. "Ῥάχis et τρόπις, nom. nov., vice Tritropis , Boeck, præoc." ῥάχis, ridge of the back, τρόπις, keel. (See Amphithonotus and Tritropis),	394, 546, 954
Rhæa , Milne-Edwards 1828, ? from rhæa, wild poppy. A synonym of Apseudes , Leach, not generally considered an Amphipod genus,	127, 134
Sannazaria , O. G. Costa and A. Costa, 1840. Apparently named after Sannazarius, a writer of piscatory eclogues; see Johnson, Rambler, July 21, 1750,	183, 249
Scamballa , Leach, MS., White, 1847. ? from scambus, bow-legged. (= Orchestia , Leach),	222, 245
Schizoscelus , Claus, 1879. σχίζω, I split, σκέλος, leg; in allusion to the slit in the femoral-plate (first joint) of the fourth pereopods,	491, 691, 1503
Schnehagenia , Claus, 1871. Named after Captain Schnehagen. (= Brachyscelus , Sp. Bate),	337, 406, 492, 1543
Schraderia , Pfeffer, 1888,	1653, 1654
Scinà , Prestandrea, 1833. "Ho voluto dedicarlo al dottissimo abbate Cav. Domenico Scinà, qual celebre conoscitore delle scienze naturali,"	151, 249, 1270
Scopelocheirus , Spence Bate, 1856-7. Seemingly from σκόπελος, a high rock, and χείρ, hand; but as White, Hist. Brit. Crust., p. 168, says "First pair of jaw-feet ending in a brush," "Hence the generic name, from σκοπηλος, a brush, and χείρ, the hand," it may be inferred that it is in reality a hybrid from Latin scopula, a little broom, and Greek χείρ, hand; σκοπηλος being an imaginary word. (= Callisoma , Costa),	290, 293, 580
Seba , Spence Bate, ² 1862. After Seba, the eminent naturalist,	{ 18, 334, 451, 550, 560, 581, 782 1624

¹ The name Rhabdonectes was given under the impression that Rhabdosoma, Adams and White, was a preoccupied name, but so far as I can discover, the ophidian genus to which Bovallius alludes has a later date and a different spelling, being Rabdosoma, Duméril, 1858.

² Spence Bate does not claim this genus as his own, but A. Costa, to whom he assigns it, has definitely disowned it, see Note on de Natale, 1864 (in Appendix, p. 1624).