

PLATE XVII.<sup>1</sup>

Fig. 1. Scale of Lepidonotus cristatus , as a transparent object and somewhat compressed, . . . . .	x 18.
Fig. 2. Posterior scale of Polynoë pustulata , as a transparent object. The papillæ are flattened by the cover-glass, . . . . .	x 20.
Fig. 3. Space in the scale (from the anterior third) of Iphionella cimex , . . . . .	x 210.
Fig. 4. Scale from the anterior third of Eunoa iphionoides , . . . . .	x 20.
Fig. 5. Scale of Lepidonotus gymnonotus , . . . . .	x about 6.
Fig. 6. Posterior scale of Eunoa mindanavensis , . . . . .	x 40.
Fig. 7. Portion of a scale of Euphione elisabethæ , showing the tubercles by transmitted light, . . . . .	x 90.

<sup>1</sup> The scales are seen by transmitted light as transparent objects.