

Uristes , Dana, 1849. Perhaps from ὀρρίζειν , to carry with a fair wind, or from εὐρύς , wide, as Dana says, "the epimerals are very broad." The genus was evidently founded on a misunderstood specimen,	228, 229, 255, 257, 263
Urothoe , Dana, 1852. Perhaps from ὄρθος , a fair wind, but more probably from ὀρθά , tail, as Dana says, "the large and long foliaceous posterior stylets distinguish the species readily from related genera,"	257, 297, 328, 394, 460, 569, 581 582, 824
Uruios , Iarzynsky, 1870 (undescribed ?),	403
Valettia , Stebbing, 1888,	723
Vertumnus , Leach, MS., White, 1847. Vertumnus, the god of the changing year. Pre-occupied. (See Epimeria , Costa),	223, 242, 243, 356, 395, 581
Vibilia , Milne-Edwards, 1830. Vibilia , the goddess of roads,	142, 170, 175, 184, 189, 258 431, 476, 580, 588, 593, 1269 1279, 1622
Westwoodea , Spence Bate, 1856. Described as Westwoodia , 1857,	290
Westwoodia , Spence Bate, 1857. Preoccupied among Hymenoptera and Entomostraca. (See Westwoodilla ),	293, 305, 581
Westwoodilla , Spence Bate, 1862. " Westwoodia having been already adopted by Dana for a genus of Entomostracous Crustacea, I have felt obliged to alter the termination of the name of this genus, which I have designated in honour of one of the most eminent of European entomologists,"	293, 328, 333, 516, 581
Weyprechtia , Stuxberg, 1880. Named in honour of Lieutenant Weyprecht,	523, 581
Wyvillea , Haswell, 1880. "I have named this genus in honour of Prof. Sir C. Wyville Thomson." (= Macleania , Haswell, 1880),	513, 583
Xenocheira , Haswell, 1880. ξένος , strange, χείρ , hand,	512, 514, 565, 580
Xenochira , alteration of Xenocheira , Haswell. (Scudder, Nom. Zool., pp. 353, 336.)
Xenoclea , A. Boeck, 1870. " Ξενοκλεία , a Delphic priestess." (See Podocropsis ),	396, 402, 580, 1062, 1108
Xenodice , A. Boeck, 1870. " Ξενοδίκη , a daughter of Minos,"	396, 402, 580
Zacoreus , Rafinesque, <sup>1</sup> 1815. ? from ζάκορος , a minister,	88
Zaramilla , Stebbing, 1888,	866
Zuphæa , <sup>2</sup> misspelling of Zuphea , Risso,	127
Zuphea , Risso, 1826. Derivation unknown. An Isopod (?) genus placed by Risso among the Læmodipoda,	129

<sup>1</sup> My friend Mr. William Bradford of New York informs me that Rafinesque-Schmaltz used sometimes the name Rafinesque and sometimes the name Schmaltz to suit his varying circumstances, but that, though he had a right to both names, he never used them in combination.

<sup>2</sup> In Nardo's Adriatic Crustacea, 1869 (see p. 389), the names of several genera are wrongly spelt; thus, Lisianassa for Lysianassa, Amphitonotus for Amphithonotus, Gamarus for Gammarus, Lemothoe for Leucothoe, Calomastix for Colomastix, Amphitæ for Amphithoe, Magamoera for Megamoera, Gamarella for Gammarella, Callissoma for Callisoma, Ipimedia for Iphimedia, Leuchothoë for Leucothoë, Cyrthophium for Cyrtophium, Lysita for Lusyta. Some of these names are given in the right as well as in the wrong form, and of Lysita Nardo himself supplies the correction. The errors are noticed here as some safeguard against the repetition of them.